STEWARD TRAINING

Saturdays, March 3 & 10, in West Allis
8:30 a.m. – 4 p.m.

Stewards are the backbone of the union and the voice of the union in the workplace. This class will provide the knowledge and tools a steward needs to build the union and effectively represent members.

New stewards are encouraged to register, and experienced stewards will benefit from a refresher - and will surely learn something new. Non-stewards are also welcome, as this class will teach you about your rights at work and how union representation functions on the job.

Topics to be discussed include:

- The big picture: why do we have unions?
- Steward job description
- Qualities of effective stewards
- Labor law for stewards
- Resolving issues through organizing
- Past practice
- Grievance investigation
- Types of grievances
- Grievance writing
- Meetings with management

WHERE: MATC West Allis campus, 1200 S 71st St., West Allis, Room 107

FEE: $47.93
